

Resilience

The Egyptians are famous for building the pyramids that still stand to this day. It took them a long time to build the pyramids and they had to demonstrate many of the character behaviours we use at school (and at home) to build the pyramids successfully.

Create your very own pyramid/tower using 'unusual' materials i.e. pasta, socks, bottles, etc.

Homework Heroes

At Kestrel Mead we value our character behaviours and would love to see you promote these at home!

We look forward to seeing what you have done on Monday 15th April. Children will share their homework with their class, and it will be celebrated by their teacher. You can present this in any way you like and needs to be posted on Class Dojo so that it can be shared with the class. For the foreseeable future, we will not be giving out homework books.

Curiosity

Did you know that the Ancient Egyptians invented many things that we use today? Paper, ink, make up, wigs, tables and even the police!

For your curiosity homework, we would like you to invent something new e.g. a flying toothbrush. Draw or make a model of your invention and write a few sentences to tell us what it does.

Compassion

Being compassionate is important in all cultures. For this piece of homework, we would like you to learn how to write the full name of someone that is important to you in Egyptian hieroglyphics, the formal writing system of Ancient Egypt.

Egyptian Hieroglyphs

Topic: How have the Egyptians influenced our lives today?

Little questions:

- What significance did the Ancient Egyptians have on the way we live today?
- How has food preparation developed over time?
- What did the Egyptians teach us about respect?
- How do our lives differ to the lives of Ancient Egyptians?
- How did the Egyptians show a sense of community and compassion?

Respect

The ancient Egyptians believed in the importance of rules and laws that would help to keep people safe and encourage them to make the right choices. Write a list of rules that you think everyone should follow.
